Digital Harassment Resource List

(Many thanks to HeartMob & Crash Override. This information and advice is theirs)

Before

- Identify who you're worried will harass you, as specifically as possible, and the tactics and tools they will use
- Remove as much publicly available information about you as you can (ancestry.com, whois domain registry, opt out of info sellers like Spokeo, US Search, People Smart)
- Use a password manager & set up 2-factor authentication on any account you can (<https://twofactorauth.org/>)
- Change social media settings so you can't be contacted by anyone you don't know

During

- It's not your fault. We all deserve (and some of us need) to exist freely online, and we shouldn't have to expect harm as a result (even though we still have to).
- Decide how you will respond; there's no right answer. Do as many of these steps as you feel you can & know at what point you want to walk away from the Internet for a bit (if you can)
- Talk to friends and family so they know what you're going through. And/or contact the Crash Override folks (help@crashoverridenetwork.com) or HeartMob
- Reconsider the rest of your community, if you're being targeted by someone you know. Would they try to reach you through any of those people?
- Document everything with screenshots or downloads. Ask someone if they can help you with this so you don't have to read through everything or use @theheartbot and #HeartMob (on Twitter at least)
